

The Garden Legacy of the Hosokawa Clan

Shin Edogawa Park

1-1 Mejirodai, Bunkyo-ku ☎ 03-3941-2010

At the final years of the Edo period, this place has been used as a suburban residence of Hosokawa Etchu the feudal lord of Higo Kumamoto 540,000 koku. The circuit style garden around the pond, slope areas of forest, a thin stream using the spring water and a big pond has created a rich scenery to change taking advantage of the ups and downs. In autumn, the autumn leaves of the mountain maple cover the pond and this beautiful figure is projected on the surface of the water. Since around the end of november, we also can see the figure of snow hanging pine.
In January of 2016, we proudly unveiled the recently restored Shoseikaku, which now looks as it did during the Taisho era.

Hama-rikyu Gardens

1-1 Hama-rikyu Teien, Chuo-ku ☎ 03-3541-0200

National-designated Special Place of Scenic Beauty and Special Historic Site "Former Hama-rikyu Teien Gardens"

This is the family garden of Tokugawa Shogun which functioned as an outer fort for Edo castle that retains a tidal pond of seawater drawn from the bay called Shioiri-no-ike and 2 duck hunting grounds. In 1654, the fourth shogun Ietsuna's younger brother Matsudaira Tsunashige reclaimed land from the sea and built his detached residence called Kofu Hama-yashiki on hawking sites of the shogun's family. With Tsunashige's son Tsunatoyo (later Ienobu) became the sixth shogun, the mansion became the property of the shogun's family. The name was changed then to Hama palace. After the Meiji Restoration, the garden became a Detached Palace of the Imperial Family, changing its name to Hama-rikyu. The Imperial Family donated the garden to the City of Tokyo in November 1945, and after restoration work, it opened to public in April, 1946 as Hama-rikyu Gardens. Later, the garden designated as a Special Places of Scenic Beauty and Special Historic Sites of the country.

Koishikawa Korakuen Mitsukuni Gardens

1-6-6 Koraku, Bunkyo-ku ☎ 03-3811-3015

National-designated Special Historic Site and Special Place of Scenic Beauty "Koishikawa Korakuen Gardens"

Construction of the garden was started by the feudal lord Tokugawa Yorifusa back in 1629, and completed in the hands of his son, the second domain lord, Tokugawa Mitsukuni with the help of a Confucian scholar from China. This strong Chinese influence can be seen throughout the garden, and it gives Korakuen its own unique ambience. Typical sights in China were reflected as seen by Engetsu-kyo and Seiko-no-tsutsumi. Also, Korakuen is a garden of many hills and levels with winding paths that lead to extraordinary views. The garden is centered on a large pond, but has many stone pathways which lead off to groves, fields or scenic spots which visitors can enjoy in almost perfect calm.

Kyu-Shiba-rikyu Gardens

1-4-1 Kaigan, Minato-ku ☎ 03-3434-4029

National-designated Place of Scenic Beauty "Garden of Former Shibarikyū"

Kyu-Shiba-rikyu is regarded by many as being one of the most beautiful gardens in Tokyo, and it's one of only two surviving Edo era feudal lord's gardens along with Koishikawa Korakuen Gardens. It is a typical Japanese garden with a pond surrounded by a path, featuring superb ground and stone work. Kyu-Shiba-rikyu is filled with man-made hills which give excellent views of the environs, the highest hill Oyama however provides a full, panoramic view. The garden was bestowed to the Tokyo City in 1924 in commemoration of the wedding of Emperor Showa in January of the following year, 1924. After restoration and upgrading work, it was opened to the public as "Kyu-Shiba-rikyu-Onshi-Gardens".

Rikugien Gardens

6-16-3 Hon-komagome, Bunkyo-ku ☎ 03-3941-2222

National-designated Special Place of Scenic Beauty "Rikugien Gardens"

Rikugien is a kaiyu-style (circuit style) daimyo garden with manmade hills and ponds that reflect tastes and flavor of the world of Waka poetry, and it was constructed in 1702 by the lord of Kawagoe domain, Yanagisawa Yoshiyasu who was deeply trusted by the 5th shogun, Tokugawa Tsunayoshi. This is a typical and representative daimyo garden of Edo period, and it became the second residence of the founder of Mitsubishi, Iwasaki Yataro in the Meiji era. Later, it was donated by the Iwasaki family to the City of Tokyo in 1938. This delicate and genial garden provides viewing pleasure of changing sights strolling along the routes that surround the pond.

Kyu Iwasaki-tei Gardens

1-3-45 Ikenohata, Taito-ku ☎ 03-3823-8340

National-designated National Important Cultural Property (building) "The former Residence of the Iwasaki Family"

Kyu-Iwasaki-tei Gardens was built in 1896 as the main residence of Iwasaki Hisaya, the 3rd president of Mitsubishi and the eldest son of Iwasaki Yataro, the founder of the group. In those days, as many as 20 buildings were arranged in the site. But, at present, it has been reduced to 1/3 of its original size, with only 3 buildings, namely the western-style residence, billiard room and Japanese residence hall. The western-style residence and billiard room were designed by Josiah Conder who also designed Kyu-Furukawa Gardens. On the other hand, the Japanese building, connected to the western-style building, is reported that its construction was done by Okawa Kijuro who had engaged in building of many residences for magnates of political and business circles as the master carpenter.

Kiyosumi Gardens

3-3-9 Kiyosumi, Koto-ku ☎ 03-3641-5892

Tokyo Metropolitan Government-designated Place of Scenic Beauty "Kiyosumi Gardens"

According to an estimate, this place is regarded as the former site of a mansion of the legendary wealthy merchant, Kinokuniya Bunzaemon in Edo-period. During 1716 and 1735, it became the secondary residence of the domain lord of Seki-yado in Shimousa-no-kuni (largely present Chiba Prefecture), Kuze Yamatonokami. In 1878, Mitsubishi founder Iwasaki Yataro bought the dilapidated residence, and he planned a garden that would be a site for his employee's recreation and to invite dignitaries. While it was opened as "Fukagawa Shinbokuken" in 1880, the garden construction went on until it was completed as the most representative "kaiyu-style (circuit style) garden" in Meiji-period, that include a large pond drawing water from Sumida river and manmade hills in particular valuable stones collected from all over the country. The garden suffered extensive damage during the Great Kanto earthquake and Second World War, but still remains one of the finest examples of a Meiji era strolling garden.

Time honored Edo flowers garden of 200 years history

Mukojima-Hyakkaen Gardens

3-18-3 Higashi-Mukojima, Sumida-ku ☎ 03-3611-8705

National-designated Historic "Mukojima Hyakkaen Flower Gardens"

This flower garden was built in the early 19th century, when Edo's urban culture was at its peak. A wealthy antique dealer named Sahara kiku, assisted by his friends with literary and artistic tastes and talents, took an initiative to open a flower garden for viewing pleasure of flower-bearing vegetation. According to a theory, the name "Hyakkaen" (hundred-flower garden) was derived from the meaning "Garden where a hundred of flowers bloom four seasons of the year". At the inception of the garden, it was mostly 360 plum trees, but to follow, well known plants quoted in Chinese and Japanese classics like "Shikyo" (the China's oldest collection of poems) and "Manyo-shu" (the existing oldest collection of Waka poems in Japan) were collected until the garden provided flowers throughout the seasons. Hyakkaen was built with a commoner's touch. Constructed by literary persons, it strongly reflected their tastes with a beauty that differs from that of feudal lords' gardens such as Koishikawa Korakuen and Rikugien.

Kyu-Furukawa Gardens

1-27-39 Nishigahara, Kita-ku ☎ 03-3910-0394

National-designated Place of Scenic Beauty "Former Gardens of the Furukawa Family"

A western style mansion has been constructed on a hill at the north side, taking advantage of the south slope of the Musashino terrace. Along with the mansion, a bright western garden is situated on the slope, and a traditional Japanese style garden centering on a pond sits on the lowlands. The western-style house and garden were designed by British architect Josiah Conder (1852-1920) who paid major contributions to the development of architecture in Japan, working on projects such as the mansion of Iwasaki Hisaya (Kyu-Iwasaki-tei Gardens), the Rokumeikan, and Nikolai Cathedral. Also, the Japanese garden was developed by famous Kyoto gardener, the 7th Jihei Ogawa. And his garden was a masterpiece work, not to be outdone by the western garden at all. This is one of the few gardens that maintain their original early Taisho forms.

Tonogayato Gardens

2-16 Minamicho, Kokubunji-shi ☎ 042-324-7991

National-designated Place of Scenic Beauty "Tonogayato Garden; Zuigien Villa"

This modern villa garden was built taking advantage of the terrace cliff on the southern edge of the Musashino plateau. An open space with a bright lawn at the top of the cliff contrasts sharply with the forested pond and bamboo woods at the bottom. The gardens were constructed from 1913 to 1915 as a villa for Eguchi Teijo who would become vice president of the South Manchuria Railway Company. Then, in 1929, Iwasaki Hikoyata, president of Mitsubishi Goshi Kaisya purchased this villa from the Eguchi family. As a result of the neighborhood protest movement to protect this garden against the development plan of the surrounding areas in the 1965s, this place was purchased by the Tokyo Metropolitan Government in 1974, and after upgrading and preparing works, it was opened as a Places of Scenic Beauty of the country as Tonogayato Gardens.

A Short Stroll into the traditional Japanese culture
Keio Mogusaen

Keio Mogusaen

560 Mogusa, Hino-shi ☎ 042-591-3478

Hino City-designated Historic Site and Place of Scenic Beauty "Mogusaen (site of Shorenji-temple)"

In the Kyoho Era, the widow of Okubo Lord Odawara, the nun Joshouin Jigaku Genchouni, had the Shorenji temple rebuilt in mourning for Tokugawa Ieyasu's eldest son, Nobuyasu. The property grew through the ages into what is now Keio Mogusaen. In the autumn, you can see beautiful maple leaves; during plum season, 500 trees of 50 varieties race to show their blossoms and the splendor of the park reaches its climax.
