

A Famous Garden from the End of Edo

Sui-kei-en in Shibamata Taishakuten 27

7-10-3 Shibamata, Katsushika-ku ☎03-3657-2886

Tokyo Metropolitan Government-designated Place of Scenic Beauty "Daikyo-Ji Sui-kei-en"
Tokyo-Metropolitan-Selected Historical Buildings "Shibamata Taishakuten Daikyo-Ji Daikyakuden"

The name Sui-kei-en comes from the quiet and tranquil atmosphere of the waterfall in the garden. Major renovations began in 1965 by Rakuzan Nagai, a famous landscape gardener in the Kanto region, and were completed in 1968. In 1984, an elevated walkway was built around the garden, allowing worshippers to appreciate the garden from various perspectives. The main garden was originally designed by Rakuzan Nagai as a garden best enjoyed while sitting in the Main Guest Room (privileged guests only) and was completed along with the park in 1929. In March 2023, the Main Guest Room was additionally designated as a place of scenic beauty, and the entire garden was designated as Tokyo's scenic spot.

Hama-rikyu Gardens ①

1-1 Hama-rikyu Teien, Chuo-ku ☎03-3541-0200

National-designated Special Place of Scenic Beauty and Special Historic Site
"Former Hama-rikyu Teien Gardens"

This is the family garden of Tokugawa Shogun which functioned as an outer fort for Edo castle that retains a tidal pond of seawater drawn from the bay called Shioiri-no-ike and 2 duck hunting grounds. In 1654, the fourth shogun Ietsuna's younger brother Matsudaira Tsunashige reclaimed land from the sea and built his detached residence called Kofu Hama-yashiki on hawking sites of the shogun's family. With Tsunashige's son Tsunatoyo (later Ienobu) became the sixth shogun, the mansion became the property of the shogun's family. The name was then changed to Hama palace. After the Meiji Restoration, the garden became a Detached Palace of the Imperial Family, changing its name to Hama-rikyu. The Imperial Family donated the garden to the City of Tokyo in November 1945. and after restoration work, it opened to public in April, 1946 as Hama-rikyu Gardens. Later, the garden designated as a Special Place of Scenic Beauty and Special Historic Site of the country.

Place that is famous for its relation with Mitokomon

Koishikawa Korakuen Gardens ③

1-6-6 Koraku, Bunkyo-ku ☎03-3811-3015

National-designated Special Historic Site and Special Place of Scenic Beauty "Koishikawa Korakuen Gardens"

The construction of the garden started in 1629 in the early Edo era by the feudal lord Tokugawa Yorifusa, the lord of Mito branch, one of "the Three Houses of the Tokugawa" and completed in the hands of his son, the second domain lord, Tokugawa Mitsukuni (Mito Komon). Mitsukuni completed the park's construction with the help of the Chinese scholar Shu Shunsi, incorporating elements of the Chinese landscape like "Full Moon Bridge" and "Saiko-no-tsutsumi" and others. Shu Shunsi also named the park, showing the rich influence of Chinese culture. This garden is a stroll garden with an artificial hill and a large pond in the center, and it is a representative garden of the Edo-era, which has been chosen as a National-designated Special Historic Site and Special Place of Scenic Beauty under the Law for the Protection of Cultural Properties.

Graceful daimyo garden filled with refined mind of Waka poetry

Rikugien Gardens ④

6-16-3 Hon-komagome, Bunkyo-ku ☎03-3941-2222

National-designated Special Place of Scenic Beauty "Rikugien Gardens"

Rikugien is a kaiyu-style (strolling) daimyo garden with human-made hills and a pond with a basic idea based on the love of waka poetry. It was constructed in 1702 by the lord of Kawagoe domain, Yanagisawa Yoshiyasu who was deeply trusted by the 5th shogun, Tokugawa Tsunayoshi. In this fine and tranquil Japanese garden, we can enjoy a wide range of beautiful views while strolling along the pond. This place is a typical and representative daimyo garden of the Edo era. The garden became the second residence of the founder of Mitsubishi, Iwasaki Yataro in the Meiji era. Later, it was donated by the Iwasaki family to the City of Tokyo in 1938. The garden was designated as a Special Place of Scenic Beauty in 1953.

A western-style building and lawn garden fulfilled with the romance of the Meiji era

Kyu-Iwasaki-tei Gardens 5

1-3-45 Ikenohata, Taito-ku ☎03-3823-8340

National-designated Important Cultural Property (building)
"The Former Residence of the Iwasaki Family"

Kyu-Iwasaki-tei Gardens was built in 1896 as the main residence of Iwasaki Hisaya, the third president of Mitsubishi and the eldest son of Iwasaki Yataro, the founder of the Group. At present, one third of the original total surface has been maintained, with three buildings still in place, namely the western-style residence, the billiard hall and the Japanese residence hall. The western-style residence and the billiard hall were designed by the famous British architect Josiah Conder, while the Japanese building is said to have been built by Okawa Kijuro, a renowned carpenter of the day. The site has been designated as a national important cultural property, as it retains a typical form of great mansions in the Meiji period.

The garden is colored with a collection of famous stones arranged in circles, gathered from all over the country

Kiyosumi Gardens 7

3-3-9 Kiyosumi, Koto-ku ☎03-3641-5892

Tokyo Metropolitan Government-designated Place of Scenic Beauty "Kiyosumi Gardens"

In the Meiji period, Yataro Iwasaki purchased this area, which at the end of the Edo period was originally the residence of Kuze Yamato-no-kami, the feudal lord of Sekiyado Domain in Shimosa Province, and adapted it as a resting place for his employees and a place to invite distinguished guests. The garden construction went on until it was completed as the most representative "kaiyu-style(circuit style)garden" in the Meiji era that include a large pond drawing water from Sumida river, manmade hills and dry landscape gardens in particular valuable stones collected from all over the country. The garden suffered extensive damage during the Great Kanto Earthquake of 1923 but was renovated in 1932 after being donated to Tokyo Prefecture, and remains one of the finest examples of a Meiji-era strolling garden.

The only surviving flower garden from the Edo period

Mukojima-Hyakkaen Gardens 6

3-18-3 Higashi-Mukojima, Sumida-ku ☎03-3611-8705

National-designated Place of Scenic Beauty and Historic Site "Mukojima Hyakkaen Flower Gardens"

This flower garden was built in the early 19th century, when Edo's urban culture was at its peak. A wealthy antique dealer named Sahara kiku, assisted by his friends with literary and artistic tastes and talents, took an initiative to open a flower garden for viewing pleasure of flower-bearing vegetation. According to a theory, the name "Hyakkaen" (hundred-flower garden) means Garden where a hundred of flowers bloom four seasons of the year". At the beginning, the garden was featured by 360 plum trees, but later, well known plants quoted in Chinese and Japanese classics like "Shikyo" (the China's oldest collection of poems) and "Manyo-shu" (the existing oldest collection of Waka poems in Japan) were collected until the garden provided flowers throughout the seasons. Hyakkaen was built with a commoner's touch. Constructed by literary persons, it strongly reflected their tastes with a beauty that differs from that of feudal lords' gardens such as Koishikawa Korakuen and Rikugien.

Unique garden of the Taisho-period with a harmonized mixture of Japanese and western tastes

Kyu-Furukawa Gardens 8

1-27-39 Nishigahara, Kita-ku ☎03-3910-0394

National-designated Place of Scenic Beauty "Former Gardens of the Furukawa Family"

Taking advantage of the terrain of the Musashino Plateau, a Western-style house was built on a small hill on the north side, while a Western-style garden lies on the slope, and a Japanese garden is on the low ground. The harmony of the Japanese and Western styles is the charm of the garden. The existent building and garden, built by Toranosuke Furukawa, the third head of the Furukawa Family, are of precious value, as they maintain their original forms of the early Taisho era. The Western-style house and garden were designed by the British architect Josiah Conder who worked on such projects as Rokumeikan and the western style mansion of the Kyu-Iwasaki-tei Gardens from the Meiji to the Taisho era. A famous Kyoto gardener named Jihei Ogawa developed the Japanese garden.

The Garden Legacy of the Hosokawa Clan

Higo-Hosokawa Garden 15

1-1-22 Mejirodai, Bunkyo-ku ☎03-3941-2010

At the final years of the Edo era, this place has been used as a suburban residence of Hosokawa Etchu no Kami, the feudal lord of Higo Kumamoto 540,000 koku. Utilizing the height difference of the natural plateau, the circuit-style garden around the pond has sloping forests and narrow streams with spring water so that you can see the varied landscape. Camellia sasanqua "Higo", one of the Six Traditional Flowers of Higo, blooms from November to December. Starting at the end of November, there will be a limited-time Autumn Leaves Light-up "Higo Akari" event. (Entrance fee required. See website for details.) Also, in the building "Shouseikaku", which maintains the facade of the Taisho era, are four rooms that can be used as meeting rooms, two western-style rooms, and two Japanese-style rooms (admission fee/advance reservation required). You can see a panoramic garden view from the resting place (tea room) on the first floor or the observatory room on the second floor.

Remains of the Shoin Garden from the Early Showa period

Yamamoto-tei 20

7-19-32 Shibamata, Katsushika-ku

☎03-3657-8577

Katsushika ward registered Tangible Cultural Property "Yamamoto-Tei Gardens",
Tokyo Metropolitan Government-selected Historic Place "Katsushika-ku Yamamoto-Tei"

With a breadth of 270 square meters, is a typical Shoin garden that features a path around a pond and drops a waterfall from the lush shrubbery and artificial hill. The garden preserves the style that was popular at the beginning of the Showa period, which is an extraordinary case these days. The waterfall is located in the farthest place inside the pond, giving the pond an impression of being larger and producing a sympathetic resonance. Also, as a technique to show the surface of the pond wider, coves have been placed on all sides.

- Admission Fees Adults 100 yen (Free admission for junior high school students or younger children and disability certificate holders)

A Japanese Garden Highlighting Modern Art & Architecture

Roppongi Hills Mohri Garden ²³

6-chome Roppongi, Minato-ku ☎03-6406-6000

"General Nogi's birthplace", designated as a historic place in 1919 (currently designated as Historic Place of Tokyo Prefecture)

"Remains of Mohri Kai-no-kami's Residence", designated as Historic Place by Tokyo Metropolitan Government in 1943

The Mohri Garden was built on the site where Mohri Family, who assumed the role of feudal lord for generations, had their mansion and garden during the Edo era. Traces of the original estate remain, and several pieces of modern art are placed throughout the garden. Together with the modern architecture of Roppongi Hills, the scenery is a special fusion of the traditional and modern. The killifish swimming in Mohri pond in the center of the park are descended from those born on the space shuttle in 1994. Spot-billed ducks come to the pond every spring. We hope you will feel a new history is beginning.

■ Admission Fees Free of charge
 ■ Opening Hours 7:00 - 23:00
